Understanding Your Award

Award Information

Your financial aid award package can include a combination of federal and state grants, various scholarships and federal student loans. UNCG does not require a separate financial aid application other than the FAFSA for students to apply for need based aid. UNCG Admissions contacts students regarding merit based scholarships. UNCG determines the amount of need based financial aid you are eligible to receive by using the Cost of Attendance (COA), then subtracting your Expected Family Contribution (EFC), taken from your FAFSA.

We will automatically match students with their eligible state grants, federal grants and other institutional resources based on their financial need. UNCG does not guarantee that we will cover 100% of your costs, and we encourage students to look to their high school college advisors for local scholarships to help supplement their awards. This is also a great way to minimize borrowing loans.

How To View Your Award Information

1. From the UNCGenie Financial Aid page, click on Award.
2. Click on Current Award Information.
3. Select the appropriate Aid Year, then click Submit.
4. Your most recent financial aid award letter will be displayed.

Glossary

Dependent Student
A student who does not meet any of the criteria for an independent student and is required to provide parent information on the FAFSA.

Direct PLUS Loan
A credit-based loan made by the U.S. Department of Education to graduate or professional students and parents of dependent undergraduate students. The borrower is fully responsible for paying the interest regardless of the loan status. This loan is not included in UNCG’s initial award offer.

Federal Student Aid
Money awarded to students based on academic or other achievements to help pay for education expenses. Scholarships generally do not have to be repaid.

Financial Need
The difference between the Cost of Attendance (COA) and the Expected Family Contribution (EFC).

Grant
Financial aid, often based on financial need, which does not need to be repaid (unless, for example, you withdraw from school and owe a refund).

Independent Student
A student who is at least 24 years old, married, a graduate or professional student, a veteran, a member of the armed forces, an orphan, a ward of the court, someone with legal dependents other than a spouse, an emancipated minor or someone who is homeless or at risk of becoming homeless and is not required to provide parent information on the FAFSA.

Merit-based
Based on a student’s skill or ability. Example: A merit-based scholarship might be awarded based on a student’s high grades.

Need-based
Based on a student’s financial need. Example: A need-based grant might be awarded based on a student’s low income.

Refund
Any money left over after your student bill has been paid. You might be able to choose whether the refund comes to you by check or credit to your bank account.

Scholarship
Money awarded to students based on academic or other achievements to help pay for education expenses. Scholarships generally do not have to be repaid.

Subsidized Loan
A loan based on financial need for which the federal government generally pays the interest that accrues while the borrower is in an in-school, grace, or deferment status, and during certain periods of repayment under certain income-driven repayment plans.

Unsubsidized Loan
A loan for which the borrower is fully responsible for paying the interest regardless of the loan status. Interest on unsubsidized loans accrues from the date of disbursement and continues throughout the life of the loan.

Verification
The process used to confirm that the data reported on your FAFSA form is accurate. Schools have the authority to contact you for documentation that supports income and other information that you reported.

Annual Cost of Attendance

Every year, UNCG develops a budget of estimated costs and expenses to determine your financial aid eligibility. This is referred to as a Cost of Attendance, or COA, for short. We use direct costs (tuition, required fees, room and board for students living on campus) and combine them with indirect costs (books and supplies, transportation, personal expenses) to create a standard COA for full-time students. Your actual expenses may be more or less than the estimates, but we find the following to be helpful in your planning:
