HHS DEPARTMENTS/MAJORS

1. (CSD) Department of Communication Sciences and Disorders
   Major(s): Speech Pathology and Audiology

2. (CTR) Department of Community and Therapeutic Recreation
   Major(s): Community Recreation and Event Planning
   Therapeutic Recreation (popular for those with interests in Occupational Therapy)

3. (HDF) Department of Human Development and Family Studies
   Major(s): Birth-Kindergarten with Teacher Licensure
   Early Care and Education
   Child, Youth and Family Development

4. (KIN) Department of Kinesiology
   Major(s): Kinesiology (popular for those with interests in Physical Therapy)
   Physical Education and Health Teacher Education
HHS
DEPARTMENTS/MAJORS

5. (NTR) Department of Nutrition
   Major(s): Human Nutrition and Dietetics
   Nutrition and Wellness
   Nutrition Science

6. (PCS) Department of Peace and Conflict Studies
   Major(s): Peace and Conflict Studies

7. (PHE) Department of Public Health Education
   Major(s): Community Health Education
   Health Studies

8. (SWK) Department of Social Work
   Major(s): Social Work
9. Major(s): Pre-Health Studies and Sciences

Pre-Health Studies and Sciences is a temporary major code, like being an undecided major, that students CANNOT graduate with a degree in, but sometimes declare this major for reasons listed below.

a. They may be interested in pursuing nursing at UNCG, but can’t yet be reflected as an official nursing major until they are formally admitted into nursing.

b. They may be interested in a health related career and haven’t yet decided on what they want their bachelor’s degree to be in.

c. They may be interested in taking course prerequisites for professional programs offered elsewhere like medical, vet, dental, pharmacy, physician assistant, etc. institutions and haven’t yet decided on what they want their bachelor’s degree to be in at UNCG while taking those course prerequisites.
School of Health and Human Sciences (HHS)

Utilize your resources and immerse yourself in your higher education experience here at UNCG. Reach out to your advisor(s), seek support from the HHS advising center (askhhs@uncg.edu) and engage with your professor(s) as questions arise. Use the writing center, speaking center, recreation facilities, career services center, tutoring services, international program center (IPC- study abroad), meditation center, counseling center, student health services, etc. to maximize your success in your undergraduate career throughout your time at UNCG.

Prepare yourself and know important dates
- Tues, Aug. 17 = 1st day of fall 2021 classes and final payment deadline
- Mon, Aug. 23 = Last day to add/drop courses
- Fri, Oct. 8 = Last day to drop a course without academic penalty
School of Health and Human Sciences (HHS)

INVEST in yourself, ENGAGE with your advising resources, RESEARCH your career areas of interest and those that relate, REFLECT on your personal and professional goals, CREATE positive and impactful connections with those around you, EXPLORE your opportunities for purposeful work in the UNCG community and beyond, and KNOW that your time to shine as you work towards the completion of your bachelor’s degree is up to YOU.
Purpose Driven – Life Design Class in HHS (Health and Human Sciences) to consider:

HHS 125 (Life Design I); 1 credit hour

HHS 125 (Life Design I): counts as an elective, requires no textbook, challenges you to think about yourself as you work to identify your life calling/purpose and more intentionally work to align your decisions and opportunities to compliment your professional and personal goals while in pursuit of a college degree.
Advisor assignments will be finalized by mid-end of September for fall 2021.

Our HHS advising center staff is available to you throughout the fall term and throughout your undergraduate career ahead if questions arise. You can email the HHS advising center staff at askhhs@uncg.edu. Once you are registered for fall 2021 courses, please note you can continue to make schedule adjustments up through Mon, August 23 (last day to add a class). Registration of spring 2022 courses will not begin until late October or early November, so you’ll have plenty of time to interact with your assigned advisor beforehand as you move through the fall 2021 term ahead.
BE EXCITED!
BE DISCIPLINED!
BE OPEN-MINDED!
PUT YOUR BEST FOOT FORWARD!
KNOW THAT WE’RE HERE TO WISH YOU WELL
IN YOUR JOURNEY AT UNCG!
School of Health and Human Sciences (HHS)

When you have a moment, make sure to check out our HHS advising center website in the link below where you can search for the semester by semester plans, or recommended/suggested courses for your respective majors of interests that may help guide you going forward.

https://hhs.uncg.edu/advising-and-personal-development-center/