Peer Academic Leaders (PALs) serve new students as advocates, teaching assistants, and mentors in a section of the FYE 101: Succeed at the G course. This course aims to equip students with the tools and resources to be successful in college. PALs have the distinct leadership opportunity to help the students in their class section transition to college, get connected to campus resources, and establish a sense of belonging here at UNC Greensboro.

"My PAL was fantastic and I’m glad to have met her in my first semester here at the G. She is very motivating and encouraging and was there for me when I thought about giving up. I think she is a great role model for students." -Fall 2020 Student

Interested in learning more about Peer Academic Leaders (PALs)?

Connect with New Student Transitions & First Year Experience at mrwinslo@uncg.edu